Epecial Dispatch to The Star. ELKINS, W. Va., July 15.—Develments have been fast in the United States senatorial campaign with both parties in West Virginia this week. Senator Howard Sutherland, who seeks renomination, has broken his silence with a statement in which he charges the use of large sums by money in the primary campaign by of his opponents and started out on a personal campaign of the state to continue until the orimary.

Mrs. William Gay Brown, the woman candidate against M. N. Neely for the democratic nomination for the United States Senate, is conducting a lively campaign. She addressed an openair meeting at Parkersturg, coming directly from a recept mendered her by the Woman's Club that was lagely attended. She was introduced by Ben H. Buscher, attorney, and the large part of her speech was devoted by Ben H. Buscher, attorney, and the large part of her speech was devoted to a plea for a place for women in politics. Mrs. Brown has described the attitude of former United States Senator William E. Chilton of Charleston, who declared for Mr. Neely, as "amazing." Having been accused by Mr. Chilton of being the candidate of Col. Clarence W. Watson and Clem L. Shaver of Fairmont. Mrs. Brown states that she did not consult either of these gentlemen, but that she did consult Mr. Chilton, and he told her he would support her. Labor Backs Ogden.

State labor political offices have been opened in the State Street Bank building in Charleston to promote the candidacy of H. C. Ogden. It is said the labor element is antagonistic toward Sutherland.

At a mass meeting of the Kanawha Valley Central Labor Union in Charleston an organization to be known as the Clean Election League was formed; officers were elected, and members of a publicity and policy committee were named. To weed out corruption in any form is announced as the main object of the organization, which now has 1,000 members.

Intensive drive for votes.

The results of the primaries in Indiana, Pennsylvania and lowa have given a new tinge to the probable outcome of the Kanasas primary. Kansas was one of the places where the progressive idea grew fastest and has kept alive ever since 1812. Govs. Capper and Allen were both listed as active progressives. DEMOCRATS PLANNING
FIGHT IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Special Dispitch to The Star.

Sloux FALLS, S. D., July 15.—The democrats of South Dakota, who have opened a strong fight with the object of electing their candidates for governor and other state offices at the election in November, are seeking to perform the gastronomic feat of swall-lowing the South Dakota and the Bartonomic feat of swall-lowing the South Dakota of the Farmers' National Non-partisan league, and have met with some success.

They have succeeded in allenating from the non-partisan league one of the league leaders, in the person of the league leaders, in the person of the league leaders, who at the March primary election was nominated as the non-partisan league one out in support of L. N. Crill, demo-ocratic candidate for Governor of South Dakota.

The public statement Mr. Kleinsasser has resigned from the non-partisan league and has come out in support of L. N. Crill, demo-ocratic candidate for Governor of South Dakota.

In a public statement Mr. Kleinsasser states that if the votes of those opposed to what he terms the republican "state machine" are divided between Miss Alice Lorraine Daly, the non-partisan league nominee for governor, and Mr. Crill, the democratic candidate, the re-election of Gov. Mc. Master, republican, will be assured, even though only a minority of the voters vo'e for him. "I find." says the statement, "that a large majority of this opposition seems to be supporting Mr. Crill. * * I feel that Mr. Crill and his state ticket will poll a great many more votes than Miss Daly and our state ticket. I see no chance of our non-partisan league ticket being elected. Feeling as strongly opposed to the 'state machine' as I do I feel, as a good citizen, with the welfare of our state in my heart, that I should not, as a candidate, stand in the way of defeating the 'state machine.'"

Lockhart Invites Debate.

Another development in South Dakota politics which is of national interest is the issuing of a challenge by "Andy" Lockhart, non-partisan league candidate for election to Congress from the second South Dakota district, to Representative Royal C. Johnson, republican, who has attained national prominence by pushing graft charges in Congress, inviting Johnson to publicly discuss with his non-partisan league opponent Mr. Johnsen's vote on the Esch-Cummins law. The challenger suggests that the debates be arranged some time prior to August 15, which date marks the nicke and that they be staged in the tem largest cities of the second South Dakota congressional district.
